

Eric Swenson Bio

Eric has lived his entire life in California spending most of his younger years in the Sacramento Area. He attended UC Davis from 1975 until graduation in 1979 with a BS in Mechanical Engineer. In his career as an engineer Eric ended up doing a lot of environmental work and after taking additional class at Fresno State in 1995 he became both a licensed Civil and Mechanical Engineer. Eric married the love of his life who he met at Davis in 1981 and they settled and started their family in Diane's hometown Merced. Eric and Diane have 2 children and now 4 grandchildren who all currently reside in Merced.

Eric worked for Merced County Environmental Health from February 2002 until July 2012. He currently considers himself semi-retired and still works as the District Engineer for Merquin County Water District. Eric is active in leading a shower ministry for the homeless through Love INC, attends Gateway Church, and is often camping in his small travel trailer with family and friends.
